AXIS TROOPS IN PANIC BEFORE REDS

TWO PROPOSE MACARTHUR IN CABINET SPOT

Republican and Democratic Senators Make Suggestion in Capital.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The appointment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as secretary of war was proposed by a Republican and a Democratic senator today as politicians calculated the effect of correspondence which most of them interpreted as indicating MacArthur is receptive to a 1944 presidential nomination.

Chiefly by what he left unsaid in an exchange of letters just made public by Rep. Miller (R-Neb), MacArthur apparently left the way open for a draft movement, and heartened supporters declared they would canvass convention delegates in an effort to persuade them to nominate the general.

Replying to suggestions by Miller that he hold himself ready for a nomination with which the Nebraskan predicted MacArthur could carry every state, the general wrote he did not anticipate fulfillment of these "flattering predictions." He did not say he would not accept such a nomination.

Expresses Interest

MacArthur expressed interest in Miller's critical appraisal of home front conditions and warned against letting the nation "slip into the same condition internally as the one which we fight externally."

Practical politicians took this to mean MacArthur would be willing to run. But some of those not classed among his enthusiasts thought this word had come to light too late to overcome the lead Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has acquired in an equally unauthorized scramble for convention delegates. The draft movement thus far has given MacArthur only three, as against 148 pledged and claimed for Dewey, (needed to nominate: 530)

Senator Thomas (R-Idaho), one of those who thinks it will be Dewey on the first ballot, said he would like to see the party's nominee announce that he would ask MacArthur to return home to replace Secretary of War Stimson, himself a Republican.

"It certainly would help the war effort to have MacArthur in that cabinet post," Thomas told a reporter.

Likewise, he indicated a belief that MacArthur's popularity, as demonstrated by a hefty vote in the Illinois preferential primary, thus might be utilized by the Republicans. There was talk among the Republicans of nominating the general for vice president, but doubt was expressed that he would accept.

Wants Him in Cabinet

Most congressional Democrats were critical of MacArthur's attitude, as expressed in his letters to Miller, but Senator Chavez (D-N.M.) said he thought his party ought to bring the general home immediately as war secretary.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), member of the military committee, said a remark in one of MacArthur's letters raised the question whether the southwest Pacific area yet is receiving adequate military supplies and men. The general observed that "we are doing what we can with what we have" but added the hope that "more substantial forces" would be placed at his disposal soon.

Criticism was voiced by Senator Tunnell (D-Del) of another passage in which MacArthur called "sobering" Miller's analysis of what the house member said were New Deal "mistakes" on the home front. MacArthur urged that the people be given "the real facts."

"I'd like to know what either he or Dewey is doing to bring before the people the real facts," Tunnell said. "If the people have to depend on the Republican candidates to bring before them the real facts, they will never know what the facts are until they have made another mistake such as that of electing Harding in 1920."

Miller, in releasing the correspondence which he initiated with MacArthur, criticized Dewey's recent attitude toward the nomination movement in behalf of the New York governor, and said Dewey had a "prima donna complex he had better shake off or he'll find himself in trouble with Congress if elected president."

JAPS BURN 300 ALIVE

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, April 14 — A Chinese dispatch said today Japanese occupation authorities of Peiping burned alive some 300 starving persons and beggars last month on the excuse they were infected with the plague. Inhabitants of a township outside Peiping witnessed the burning, the dispatch said.

10 Jap Ships Blasted in Blow Against Rebuilding of Base

200 Planes Revisit Hollandia; Of 20 Jap Interceptors 8 Are Shot Down, 2 by Major Bong.

By The Associated Press

The ships and planes with which Japan hoped to revive its smashed defenses at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, were left burning and battered after a massive co-ordinated air attack Wednesday, allied headquarters in the southwest Pacific reported today.

At least one freighter was sunk in Hollandia harbor and nine other small craft were left burning and sinking after the Fifth air force pilots had pinpointed their target with one of the heaviest bomb loads in the New Guinea campaign.

Of the 20 Japanese planes that bravely rose to intercept the 200-plane Allied force, eight were shot down—two by the guns of the Lightning fighter piloted by America's No. 1 ace, Maj. Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wis. The two victims raised Bong's total to 27, highest in American history.

During the past two weeks, Allied airmen have smashed Hollandia with 1,334 tons of bombs and destroyed its reinforced air force of 288 planes.

Cover Large Area

Other air war reports told of American bomber attacks ranging from Koepang, Dutch Timor, which is west of Darwin, Australia, to Truk in the eastern Caroline islands, with way stops at such targets as Wewak, Hansa bay and Madang, New Guinea, Rabaul, New Britain, Kavieng, New Ireland, and Bougainville island in the Solomons.

Four targets in the Kurile islands north of Japan were raked by 11th airforce planes, including the third attack in three days on Matsuwa island.

Allied headquarters in India were admonished by the British owned Bombay Times to stop concealing the full picture of the Japanese offensive into India aimed at the Bengal-Assam railroad and to stop treating the public "as if it is incapable of appreciating the military situation."

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander-in-chief in the southeast Osia theater, made what apparently was a flying trip to the besieged Allied base of Imphal near the Burma border last Saturday and held a half-hour conference with the garrison's commander.

Jap Patrols Advance

Mountbatten's communique today reported Japanese invasion parties have been encountered in the vicinity of the Bishenpore-Silchar jungle track southwest of Imphal, further threatening the isolation of both the Manipur plain and advanced Allied bases in Assam.

(A Domei broadcast from Tokyo said the "last remaining escape gap out of the Imphal basin" for the British - Indian Fourth army corps had been cut by a flying Japanese column which took a height on the Imphal-Haochong highway 20 miles northwest of Imphal. The "flower of Mountbatten's command is facing annihilation or capture," declared another broadcast from Berlin which quoted Tokyo dispatches.)

Elsewhere on the Assam front, however, Japanese invasion forces were reported making no progress. Only patrol activity elsewhere in the Imphal basin was announced, and one attack in the Palel-Tamu sector southeast of Imphal was repulsed with 100 of the enemy killed.

To the north, around Kohima, the communique said, Allied operations to clear the road between Imphal and Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam rail lifeline were progressing.

GENTILE MAY BE THROUGH

Piqua Ace Now Out of Hospital After Crash Landing.

By The Associated Press

A U. S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, April 1—Capt. Don Gentile, top American ace in the European theater, may have closed his operational fighter career with his latest mission in which he was injured slightly in a crash landing.

The Piqua, O., ace who has 30 German planes to his credit—23 shot down in aerial combat and seven destroyed on the ground—long since has passed his second quota of missions.

He was going after the top European mark of 32 planes held by RAF group Capt. G. A. Malan, but had planned it to be his last operational flight in any case.

"I'm going after Malan's mark," he had said as he leaned over the cockpit just before the takeoff.

Now Out of Hospital

Gentile, now released from the base hospital where he was treated for minor injuries, had hoped to return home with "Shangri-La"—the plane in which he rode out his operational career. But a crash crew found him sitting on the torn plane's wing after his crash landing.

"I don't want to be a transport pilot but I sure want to keep on flying," he had said in the officers' lounge the night before his last mission. "I hope I can get into the business end of aviation after this war and then be able to take planes up everytime I want."

Gentile did some of the finest

Charges Delay in War Plans

Maine G. O. P. Leader Lays Lack of Foresight to President.

By The Associated Press

BANGOR, Me., April 14—Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, accused President Roosevelt today of "proven lack of foresight in the past," and asked her party's state convention:

"* * * why should we give him the benefit of the doubt and believe he would show any more foresight in preparing for peace than he did in preparing for obvious war?"

The one-time state senator—Miss Martin's home is in Bangor—declared in a prepared address that the opposition reasoned "that we need the New Deal" president to remain in office in order to carryout the war and to work out the peace after the war."

As for the war, she asserted, "military operations are conducted by military leaders and they would not be changed if there were a change in political leaders."

While the war clouds were gathering, Miss Martin charged, the President "favored downright disarmament," delayed preparations for adequate defense, "ridiculed the urgency of a two-ocean navy," advised the public not to become "discomboberated" by foreign developments and "was not 'on guard' regarding Japanese threats

"These deficiencies constitute incontrovertible evidence," she said, "that the President was not competent to evaluate and to counter the warlike trends of the pre-Pearl Harbor period. He erred, too, in failing to portray to the people the status of world conditions, she added.

"* * * just as the President is not frank with the people of this country, neither is he frank with the leaders of our allies, nor are they frank with him * * *," she declared.

INVASION RUMOR HAS SHORT LIFE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—A brief flurry of invasion rumors was set off last night by Canadian reports of a German broadcast that "an invasion force headed by Canadians" had landed in France south of Calais—but it apparently was only a garbled version of a Nazi "we dare you" warning mentioning the Dieppe landing in 1942.

In London, the broadcast was described as "entirely untrue from beginning to end."

Speculation ranged from guesses that it might be the real thing or another commando strike to the suggestion it might be a German or even an allied smokescreen.

Three Canadian radio stations in and near Toronto reported hearing the words indicating a landing was in progress.

But there was absolutely no allied confirmation, and the British Broadcasting Corp. gave the plausible explanation—a misunderstood or garbled propaganda broadcast.

BBC said a Nazi broadcast in English by one Dan Jean Hogen had been beamed last night to North America, describing how invasion troops might be landed with air and naval support.

BONG BREAKS RECORD AND BECOMES MAJOR

Bags 27th Plane To Take Rickenbacker Laurels.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 15 — Richard I. Bong, America's No. 1 ace, probably is the most envied man in the U. S. Army Air Corps today because:

1—Wednesday he shot down his 27th enemy plane to become the top-ranking combat fighter pilot in American history.

2—The same day, the 23-year-old Poplar, Wis., pilot was promoted from captain to major.

3—He qualified for a case of Scotch whisky offered by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, America's World war I ace, to the first man to exceed his 26-aircraft record

A special headquarters release today announced Bong's promotion and his qualification for the whisky but did not reveal how he or Rickenbacker would be able to obtain a case of Scotch.

$2,227 Yet To Go in Red Cross Drive

The Red Cross war fund needs $2,227.17 more to round out the $56,000 goal, drive officials reported this morning, listing the present total at $53,772.83.

A special committee headed by Chris Turoff, seeking additional donations from business places and large individual donors, continued its work today, seeking to put the drive over the top. In the meantime, individual "give again" donations continued to come in.

The city schools today were busy with collections of donations from individual students in a phase of the drive suggested by the students themselves.

Chairman J. D. Terrance today asked all workers in the rural and city precincts that have not turned in final reports to send them in to the Red Cross office by Saturday night if possible.

3,000 PLANES IN U. S. BLOW AGAINST NAZIS

Mosquitos Hit Berlin as Followup to Smashing American Assault.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14—RAF Mosquito bombers struck Berlin and western Germany last night in climax to double-header daylight assaults yesterday upon aircraft and rail targets by nearly 3,000 U. S. bombers and fighters that bagged 138 German planes.

It was the first blow against the gouged Nazi capital since a Mosquito attack March 25 and a 2,000-ton British raid March 24. All the swift plywood planes returned.

The German radio declared allied aircraft bombed the Rome area last night, culminating 24 hours of unusual activity over that city. There was no allied confirmation.

44 U. S. Planes Lost

Forty-four American planes, 36 of them bombers, were lost in raids from British bases Thursday, and the allied Mediterranean forces lost 19 ships, 16 of them heavy bombers, in flying 1,800 sorties. How many of the 19 were American planes lost in the main heavy blow into Hungary was not specified.

A record fleet of more than 1,100 Mustangs, Lightnings and Thunderbolts of the U. S. Eighth and Ninth air forces accompanied the 500 to 750 British-based Flying Fortresses and Liberators that hit the Messerschmitt plant at Augsburg, the ballbearing factories at Schweinfurt, the Dornier factories and hangars of Oberpfaffenhofen and Hangarauait Lechfeld.

These fighters knocked 51 Nazi planes out of the air and at least 27 on the ground, while bomber gunners sent down 25 more.

The other 35 planes in the day's bag of 138 fell to U. S. 15th air force gunners and pilots winging from Italy to hammer a Messerschmitt plant at Gyor, 70 miles northwest of Budapest, at nearby railway car shops and machine shops, the airfield and assembly plant at Tokol 11 miles southwest of Budapest, and another airdrome 10 miles from the capital. The 15th air force also bombed railway targets in Yugoslavia. Probably 500 bombers and as many fighters flew from Italian bases on these raids.

Weather Is Good

Other allied bombers raked the invasion coastal area during the day.

A. U. S. communique in London said objectives at Augsburg, Oberpfaffenhofen, Schweinfurt, and Lechfeld were "successfully bombed in clear weather" with one formation reporting excellent results at Augsburg. Anti-aircraft fire was heavy and the Germans sent in strong fighter opposition at points.

The Germans sent "a small number" of planes over southeast England, Essex and the Home counties, with some penetrating to London, it was announced authoritatively, and "small number of casualties were reported." At least two planes were downed.

London greeted the raiders with an unprecedented number of searchlights, apparently part of a surprise defense. Several high

WOMAN KILLED BY ERIE TRAIN

Mrs. Lena Klehm of Oak St. Meets Death in Crossing Accident.

Mrs. Lena Klehm of 436 Oak street was killed almost instantly when struck by a train at the North Prospect street crossing of the Erie railroad early this afternoon.

It was an Erie passenger train, westbound.

She was taken to the City hospital in the Schaffner-Denzer ambulance and pronounced dead upon arrival there.

Mrs. Klehm was reported walking along the sidewalk at the time of the mishap.

Steps Into Path of Train

Mrs. Klehm was walking along southward, on the east side of the street, and stepped into the path of the train while her attention was centered on a troop train going through Marion on the Big Four tracks a short distance south.

A crossing watchman said he saw her approach, called loudly to her but saw that she was preoccupied by the troop train as she stepped on the track, into the path of the other train. Her body was thrown into the middle of the street. The accident happened about 1:35 p. m.

Her husband, Charles W. Klehm, is employed in the shop at the Huber Manufacturing Co. He and three children survive, Walter Klehm of 283 Clover avenue, Mrs. Clyde Masters of Reed avenue and Miss Miriam Klehm of Cincinnati.

The family moved about a month ago from Chestnut street to the present home on Oak street.

The body was taken to the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 14 — More than 60 applications for absent voters ballots forwarded to the Crawford county election board from the secretary of state's office are being checked by the election board to determine which can be supplied with absent voters ballots. Of the 66 applications more than half are dated in 1943 and only six show a party affiliation. Clerk L. T. Kinnett said an attempt would be made to trace the politics of the applicant and to learn the present addresses of those still in this country so ballots can be forwarded to them.

SOVIET PLANES HIT RETREATING NAZI COLUMNS

Report Fourth Army 25 Miles from Sevastopol; Many Prisoners Taken.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14—Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Fourth Ukrainian army, spearheaded by Cossack cavalry, tanks and motorized artillery, rolled down through the southern Crimea today toward Sevastopol, less than 25 miles away, and Moscow declared German and Romanian troops were fleeing in panic before the relentless Russian drive to reconquer the peninsula.

Overhead waves of Stormovik dive-bombers were reported bombing and strafing broken and disorganized enemy columns racing toward coastal evacuation ports in what appeared to be a futile effort to escape the Red army.

20,000 Prisoners Taken

Already more than 20,000 axis prisoners have been captured, a Russian communique said, but there was no information available on the total number of enemy dead, outside of the 5,000 listed Wednesday and Thursday. A final check was expected to increase that number greatly, field dispatches indicated.

Yesterday Tolbukhin's forces stormed the capital city of Simferopol, 55 miles north of Sevastopol on the central Crimean railway, and captured the west coast port of Yevpatoriya. In the eastern part of the peninsula troops of Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's maritime army swept through the port of Feodosiya to Koktebel, eight miles further down the southern coast. A second column thrust to the west to capture the town of Krim, 11 miles away, to cut off the enemy units who had fled there from Feodosiya.

Three-fourths of Area Freed

Today, the seventh of the great offensive to clear the Crimea, Russian forces had liberated more than three-fourths of its 10,000-square-mile area, had isolated German forces in the western wedge of the peninsula from their groups in the south and east by capturing Yevpatoriya, and had swept up or destroyed tremendous amounts of enemy military stores and equipment, according to the Moscow bulletin. Ten trainloads of arms and munitions were taken at Simferopol alone, it was added.

More than 600 towns and villages, in addition to the three major cities, fell to the Russians yesterday, 500 of them to Tolbukhin's forces, Moscow said. The others were liberated by Yeremenko's swift drive to the south and west, where he was within 25 miles of a juncture with the fourth army's left wing.

Yesterday's great Crimean victories were celebrated in Moscow with an unprecedented victory salute of 7,456 rounds fired by the capital's big guns, after Premier Stalin personally had announced the news in three successive orders of the day.

Bricker Raps New Deal Grab of Power

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., April 14 — Gov. Bricker of Ohio, Republican presidential aspirant, last night called for complete subjugation of Japan and Germany, and in the same talk criticized what he termed the New Deal's expropriation of congressional powers.

"Many of the defenders of Bataan still are watching the sky from Jap prison camps," he said, "and the day of their liberation and revenge can not come too soon."

He brought his one-day whirlwind Oregon campaign to a close with a promise that if he sit in the White House when Germany is defeated the west coast will not be left out on a geographic industrial limb in the fight to beat the Japs.

"It is going to take the country's entire resources to defeat Japan, and there must be no letdown in eastern industrial areas if Germany succumbs first," the governor said.

Referring to what he said was usurpation of powers by Roosevelt and the President's numerous directives, the governor said "neither party has anything to say about what goes on down in Washington."

In similar vein he struck at what he termed Roosevelt's appointment of judges for their political loyalty rather than their ability, with "a resulting decadence of the supreme court."

Hitler Renews Peace Efforts Through Franco

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's desperate military situation has driven him to start another peace campaign in which he is trying to bamboozle America and Britain into throwing over Russia and making a bargain with the reich—a suggestion which Secretary of State Hull characterizes as infamous.

The fuehrer has enlisted the aid of his warm friend Dictator Franco of Spain to persuade the western allies that Russia is a greater danger to them than a victorious Germany ever could be. The generalissimo's Falange party newspaper Arriba in making this claim declares that hostilities must cease immediately—that's how acute the position is. The paper adds:

"Russia on the Dardanelles and Mediterranean, Russia on the north Atlantic, Russia on the Pacific with a territorial continuity only she possesses, would not be a pleasant experience. Russia's inexhaustible human resources would permit her to place in operation military and naval forces greater than all others in the world."

Hitler Starts Bail

This propaganda is no flash in the pan, for Hitler's own newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter set the wheels turning the other day. It declared that the English and Americans must invade western Europe, since otherwise the war might end with Stalin the sole conqueror of Europe. The intimation is, of course, that such an ending would raise hell.

Well, if that happened it certainly would create a mountainous predicament. However, it can't happen, because the Anglo-American allies are playing a major part in the war. Russia doesn't claim to be winning alone. On the contrary Marshal Stalin made this neat little toast at the Teheran conference:

"Without American production the United Nations never could have won the war." And production is only one phase of vital allied participation.

Obviously the post-war wheels will turn a lot easier if the allies march into Germany together. Still, while we must accept the probability that the Soviet Union will emerge as the dominant power of the eastern hemisphere, there need be no war over that. What we have to remember is that cooperation among the major allies is the essential for peace.

Hull Sums Up Situation

As Secretary Hull put it last Sunday in discussing American foreign policy:

"However difficult the road may be, there is no hope of turning victory into enduring peace unless the real interests of this country, the British commonwealth, the Soviet Union and China are harmonized and unless they agree and act together. This is the solid framework upon which all future policy and international organization must be built."

With cooperation we have peace; without it we get war. That's the whole story no matter who reaches Berlin first, or who is dominant in any given zone.

One too often encounters repetition of the Hitlerian propaganda that we must some day fight Russia. Frequently this is based vague on the idea that we can't ward off Communism otherwise. That's a fallacious notion. There's no reason why we can't be allied to Russia, or any other country, and at the same time bar its political ism from our own domains. The Soviet isn't going to try to make us swallow Communism at the point of the bayonet, and we won't have to accept it in order to appease Moscow.

Anyway, we aren't making peace with Hitler because of fear of Russia. He knows the terms—unconditional surrender—and he can have peace on that basis any time he wants it, though he personally may get a hangman's noose to go along with it.

New Factory Second Tires Available Soon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The office of price administration announced yesterday that motorists previously eligible only for used passenger car tires will be able to obtain new "factory seconds" as well, beginning next Monday.

In this group are motorists who are issued "B" gasoline rations for non-preferred occupational driving.

OPA also announced that new passenger tube factory seconds are being removed from rationing and will be available without a certificate.

About 50,000 tires of this type were in manufacturers' hands on April 1, OPA said.

Man Near LaRue Hurt in Fall from Wagon

Walter Griffis, a tenant on the Walter Rothfuss farm near LaRue, was injured yesterday when he fell from a wagon he was driving. An ambulance was called and he was taken to City hospital where he was treated. After treatment here he was removed to Veteran's hospital at Dayton. Griffis, a veteran of World War I, was troubled with an old injury which caused his leg to give way. The leg failed him as he was working in the wagon and he fell to the ground. Extent of his injuries was not determined.

FARMERS ANSWER PLEA IN DARKE CO.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, O., April 14 — An agricultural adjustment administrator plea that Darke county farmers cooperate in the nation's food program today brought a reply that the farmers were doing their best but" could do even better" if the AAA were more cooperative.

The appeal, made from Washington last night by AAA Chief M. E. Dodd, followed recent incidents here involving charges of coercion against the AAA, a report of destruction of records in three AAA township offices in Darke county and a demand for the resignation of the agency's county chairman, Ora R. Fellers.

The reply to Dodd was made by James Mannix, leader of a group of farmers which met last Saturday as a deadline for Fellers to resign then backed down when the AAA chairman refused to quit.

"Most farmers are doing a fine job," Mannix declared. "But I know of two cases where they were refused permits to buy machinery and had to go over the local AAA chairman's head and direct to Washington for it. We are doing our best to produce foodstuffs and if the AAA were more cooperative we could do an even better job."

HOSPITAL SAYS 17 BABIES STILL ILL

By The Associated Press

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 14 —The Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals where four babies were disclosed to have died from the effects of boric acid powder erroneously substituted for dextrose, today reported there was "no change" in the condition of 17 others made ill.

Chief Specialist Fred Thomasula of th eCoast Guard, whose six-day-old son, Fred Patrick, was one of the four who died, reported the baby might have been born in Buffalo, N. Y., the Thomasula's home, had not he and his wife decided a month ago that she could come here to be near him when their first child arrived.

Thomasula, a former Buffalo policemen, told reporters he did not know about the error, which Hospital Administrator Richard F. Hancock said was committed by a young woman employe of the institution's pharmacy room, until informed by a physician yesterday.

The coast guardsman expressed no bitterness, but said he believed some action ought to be taken "if there was any wilful neglect."

Coroner Edward G. McKay, who plans to hold an inquest Wednesday, said no charges had been brought against anyone and would not be un'ess it developed that someone was "criminally responsible."

Two five-day-old girls and a three-day-old boy were the others who died. All were the children of Navy men, one of whom is on sea duty.

Pennsylvania Favors Dewey, Martin Says

But Governor Finds Others, Including Bricker, Liked.

By The Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 14—Republican Governor Edward Martin said today there is more sentiment in Pennsylvania for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, for the Republican presidential nomination than for any other discussed candidate but insisted the Keystone state's big delegation of 70 "is uncommitted and awaiting developments."

Asked at a press conference if Pennsylvania will jump on the Dewey band wagon on the first ballot, if the convention trend is toward the New Yorker, Martin replied:

"The first time Pennsylvania will discuss candidates will be at a meeting of delegates May 10."

The state Republican organization will elect an uninstructed delegation to the national convention at the April 25 primary.

"I'm going to the convention as an uninstructed delegate," asserted Martin, who will head the delegation. "There seems to be more sentiment in Pennsylvania at the present time for Dewey than any other discussed candidate.

"There is, however, much sentiment for Gov. Bricker (of Ohio), General (Douglas) MacArthur and Commander (Harold E.) Stassen.

MARION BASEBALL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS TONIGHT

Hartley Says 26 Players To Report Monday.

Election of permanent officers and a review of final preparations for the start of the baseball school Monday at Lincoln park will be made when the Marion Baseball club members meet tonight at 7:30 in Hotel Harding.

Grover Hartley, manager, said 26 prospective players have informed him they will be on hand for the start of tryouts Monday, and he said he has had unofficial assurances that many more will be here. He expects a total turnout of between 50 and 60.

This week's weather has delayed the hopes of Hartley and others in the group to get preliminary work started at the park diamonds, which will need attention before games can be played. The season is to open May 2 with Lima playing at Marion on the opening day.

(The official Ohio State League schedule appears on tonight's sports page of The Star. Fans may clip it for future reference).

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

ANSWER TO OBJECTION

Editor of The Star: In response to the objection of Mr. Farrar.

It certainly is too bad some of us have to sacrifice so much, a year's supply of gasoline. Just so a "torch-lit" young pilot can show off for the girl friend or his dad.

Did you ever stop to think how much that same pilot is sacrificing for each one of us? In the first place some of the best years of his lifetime that most of us were burning gasoline without a thought of days like these, also he has put in hours of hard work and studying while the rest of us were still asleep. After all of this hard grueling work he may be shipped away from home and loved ones, perhaps never to return again.

In the meantime we will have the peace this pilot has helped to earn for us and all of the privileges that go with peace, including an abundance of gasoline.

This same pilot needs every bit of flying time and experience he can possibly get, whether he gets it under regulation flying or not.

If you, Mr. Farrar, had a son in the AAF you probably would be as proud as the next one to witness his flying ability. Not knowing who this bomber pilot was, I am still proud of his ability, so loosen up and don't begrudge the boy his day.

There are places gasoline can be saved other than in the services.

If you are investing in War Bonds you will get it all back with interest. If that pilot fails to return what has he or his folks to look forward to?

Mother of an aviation cadet.

Smith Draws Answer on Control of Prices

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—Deputy Price Administrator James F. Brownlee told congressmen today that price controls ought not to be perpetuated as a permanent national policy, beyond the war emergency.

The OPA official, however, urged the house banking committee to approve legislation continuing price controls in wartime, without "weakening" amendments which he said held a threat of economic disaster.

Rep. F. C. Smith of Marion, Republican, interposed to say he understood some groups wanted to make price control a fixture in this country, and Brownlee replied:

"I would oppose nothing so much as permanent price control."

Byrnes Proposes Six-Point Plan for Peacetime

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—War Mobilizer Byrnes has given congress six main points to consider in his frank warning that the government must help ease unemployment when peace comes.

He reasons:

To tide them over when they are thrown out of jobs by the shift from war to peace, workers will need better unemployment benefits than they can get under the present system which varies by states.

Industry, when it begins producing for civilians, will suffer if the prospective customers have become impoverished during the transition period.

The proposals were made Wednesday night in an address before the Academy of Political Science, at New York.

Here are the points:

1. He suggested a "demobilization" law to "supplement" present unemployment benefits because "demobilization must be regarded as a national problem and its costs as part of the costs of war."

2. Fix a minimum and maximum benefit. This would be on a national basis. Now the minimum and maximum vary by states, ranging up to the maximum of $30 weekly paid by Hawaii, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota.

3. Make allowances for a worker's dependents. This is not done now. Compensation is given only according to the money a worker made before losing his job.

4. Lift the present restrictions on the number of weeks in any one year that the benefits are payable. It varies now by states from 14 to 20 weeks.

5. Cover practically all workers. Now perhaps only 45 million workers can receive unemployment benefits. Excluded are about 15 million agricultural workers, domestic servants, employes of federal, state or local government and employes of nonprofit organizations.

6. Provide a check on the job-seeking efforts of the unemployed—those receiving benefits—by compelling them to report to the unemployment services and shutting off their benefits if they refuse employment.

SCRAPPING OF NAVY AFTER WAR OPPOSED

Sentiment Develops As New Appropriation Comes Up.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—A wave of sentiment against postwar junking of our navy—now the world's largest—swept through the house today as it met for the formality of passing and sending to the senate a record $32,647,134,336 naval supply bill for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Not a dissenting vote was expected. In fact, the bill could have been shunted to the senate late yesterday by a unanimous standing vote had not Representative Patman, Democrat of Texas, insisted that the members go on record on a measure of such importance. The 50 members present stood in the affirmative before Patman objected because of lack of a quorum.

The bill passed through the amendment stage without important change after Rep. Sheppard, Democrat of California, head of the appropriations subcommittee that wrote it, told of the big role the Navy must play in pending war operations.

Debate centered mainly on insistence that the United States keep its Navy virtually intact in the years following the war.

Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts echoed sentiment on the Democratic side, and won applause from both sides when he expressed the hope "this great Navy of ours will not be sunk" after the war.

GENTILE

flying of his career in lifting his red-nosed Mustang off the turf of this landing field when he returned from that mission and saved himself and a group standing in front of the operations hut.

He was coming in low after a seven-hour flight when his plane lost power. It almost seemed he lifted his sleek plane himself, gunning it over the operations hut flag pole and picking a spot for the crash landing in a plowed field, just short of a ditch and a high-tension wire.

He was taken to the hospital and put to bed after showing signs of shock. He woke up later, however, demanding dinner and spent the rest of the evening listening to the radio.

The next morning friends found him dressed and ready to go back to his quarters.

Three More Easy

A friend who had talked with him this morning said he could have gotten three more planes in the air "like sitting ducks" on his latest mission and beaten Malan's record, but he suddenly saw a Focke-Wulf on a companion's tail and left his targets to save his friend.

Then two Germans got on Gentile's tail and he had to break off in evasive action.

Gentile is highly regarded by his companions.

"He's the best pilot there ever was," his armorer, Cpl. Gerhard Johnson, of Deer River, Minn., had said when he took off before his crash.

"We lose him anyway," observed Sgt. Roy Muffler, radioman of St. Louis, at the takeoff. "If he gets his planes he will have passed the mark and won't need to fly again. If he doesn't"—and Sgt. Muffler shrugged his shoulders.

The ace never said he was going after Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's World war I record of 26 planes downed in aerial combat, which was bettered this week by Major Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis., with 27 kills in the air over the Pacific.

His closest friends said Gentile was unpretentious and never compared himself with Rickenbacker.

He has piled up all his flying pay—gossip has it that it runs into thousands—but Gentile didn't volunteer how much it totals or what he intends doing with it.

"Things are going to be a bit uncertain after this war and it doesn't hurt to have a nest egg," he said.

His immediate task is to catch up with a pile of letters, and he figured some of them might be from Marge Dill, who worked at Decker's Piqua packing plant, and from Dorothy Wilson, a former North Hollywood film player who now is training with the WAVES in the Bronx, N. Y.

ARMY INSPECTOR ON WITNESS STAND

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 14 — A defense witness testified today at the courtmartial of three Army officers charged with neglect of duty and conspiracy that "the accepted a great deal of material deviating from blueprints" at the Wright Aeronautical corporation, Lockland plant, "but nothing that would affect the life of an airplane engine."

The witness, Duncan McLauren, assistant chief Army inspector at the plant, also testified that some defects in parts described last week by the prosecution would have no effect on the running of an engine. Among these he listed as "fluted or washboard cylinders," in which he said deviations were infinitesmal.

McLauren insisted that on several occasions Army inspectors emphasized the necessity for conforming to blueprint specifications when company officials suggested slight deviations.

On cross-examination, Major Henry C. Clausen, trial judge advocate, sought to bring out whether McLauren attempted to stop transfers of four Army inspectors for allegedly complaining about conditions in the plant but he insisted he did not know about it in time to act.

Officers who are defending Lt. Col Frank C. Greuben and Maj. Walter A. Ryan, both of Detroit, and Maj. William Bruckmann of Cincinnati, took over their side of the court martial yesterday.

Myron B. Gordon, Wright vice president, testified, with Army approval, that the Lockland plant made 28,694 engines in its three years of production and that some of the criticized inspection practices were the result of a vast expansion program.

Gordon also testified, following a spirited objection on the part of Maj. Henry C. Clausen, trial judge advocate, that the senate Truman committee's visit to the plant came in the midst of a reorganization to effect 500 per cent expansion. The committee report after the visit, April 1, 1943, resulted in charges against the accused.

PLANS NEW BUILDING

DELAWARE, April 14—The Delaware Gazette, in connection with the start of its 126th year of publication, has announced its plans to construct a new newspaper plant just east of the City hall in Delaware after the war ends. A new press and other equipment will be installed in an expansion program.

About one-third of all gasoline produced east of the Rockies goes to the armed forces.

STRIKE OF CAPITAL CAB DRIVERS ENDS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 14 — A strike of the city's 600 taxicab drivers ended last night when the men agreed to return to their jobs pending presentation to city council next Monday night of a new ordinance governing fares.

The men walked out yesterday after the city had revoked licenses of two drivers for violation of double-loading regulations.

Under the present city ordinance taxi drivers may pick up as many passengers as they can squeeze in, but must allow all in the cab to divide the cost of the trip, instead of charging each passenger the full cost of the trip.

The drivers are asking a return of the zone system under which a passenger is charged for the distance he travels. Representatives of drivers said they were asking no increase in fares

Mayor James A. Rhodes addressed the drivers last night and appointed a committee to draft a new ordinance.

Dewey's Vote Hits New High in Poll on West Coast

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 14—At the time Wendell Willkie was bowing out of the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, sentiment favoring Thomas E. Dewey reached a new high in the Pacific Coast states.

As of today, Governor Dewey holds a wide advantage as top choice among the G.O.P. candidate preferences, not only in the Coast area as a whole, but in each of the three states making up the region—California, Oregon, and Washington.

Both Governor Earl Warren, of California, frequently mentioned as the vice presidential running mate of Dewey, and Eric Johnston, National Chamber of Commerce head, from the state of Washington, receive a substantial "native son" vote in their home states.

In making the present surveys, the Institute had field reporters talk with a cross-section of voters in towns and cities, as well as farm areas, in all parts of the three states. The following table shows the rank of G.O.P. candidate possibilities, on the basis of voters who prefer a Republican as next president:

	Calif.	Ore.	Wash.
Dewey	46%	46%	38%
Willkie	25	23	27
MacArthur ..	6	18	7
Warren	11	4	3
Johnston	3	*	14
Bricker	6	3	4
Stassen	4	6	7

CLEVELAND, April 14—One of baseball's all-time greats yesterday was awarded a medal for his efforts on behalf of crippled children.

Tris Speaker, famed center fielder and former manager of the Cleveland Indians, was presented with the Society for Crippled Children's distinguished service award, given annually to the person judged to have made the year's greatest contribution to that cause.

The "Grey Eagle," now 56, is vice president of the society and chairman of the Easter sales committee. He also conducts the organization's annual fund raising drive.

Whales are believed to have lived to be 500 years old.

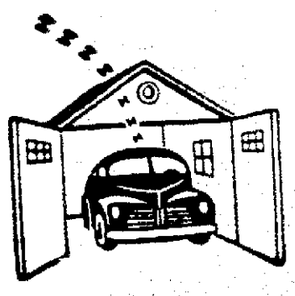
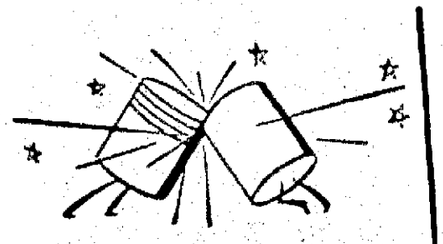
Don't pay 200 miles for one day's delay ...SWITCH TO V.E.P. ALLOYED-OIL, TODAY

LICK "START-UP" DAMAGE NOW... it can put up to 200 miles of wear on your motor in one minute



WHEN YOUR CAR STANDS IDLE, ordinary oil goes A.W.O.L.—drains down from (and dries off of) pistons and cylinder walls—leaving them without adequate lubrication when you step on the starter.



THAT MEANS METAL-TO-METAL contact while the oil is getting back on the job. And automotive experts tell us such "dry" starts can cause as much wear, in one minute, as up to 200 miles of normal warmed-up driving.

WITH REPAIR PARTS SCARCE and skilled mechanics scarcer, that's wear you can't afford. That's why you'll want to change, today . . . not tomorrow, to Marathon V.E.P., the new, patented alloyed oil.

FOR V.E.P. HAS A "MAGNETIC-LIKE" action which makes it cling to pistons and cylinder walls for days, even weeks. Lubrication is there . . . before you step on the starter . . . to protect your motor against dangerous "Start-Up" damage.

MAKE SPRING CHANGE-OVER A CHANGE TO V-E-P AND MARATHON VERIFIED LUBRICANTS

NOW'S THE TIME to give winter-weary chassis, transmission and differential lubricants an honorable discharge. Have them replaced with Marathon Verified Lubricants, specially compounded to fight friction and wear . . . resist heat, water, shock, pressure . . . and stay on the job.

GET A FREE MARATHON TELL-TALE CHECK-UP. A complete 20-point inspection service that makes sure your car is in battle trim for Spring from stem to stern. It's free—no obligation. Ask for yours today.

V.E.P. is the alloyed oil that makes motors last 50% longer than they would with ordinary oil. Laboratory tests and millions of miles of road travel prove it.

How Far Is Rome?

THE proclamation by King Victor Emmanuel III that he will delegate his authority to Crown Prince Umberto when the Allies reach Rome is a political anti-climax. It does suggest preparation for some new development in the Italian campaign—a paving of the political way for an important military move. Under existing circumstances, with the drive on Rome stalled at Cassino and pinned down at the Anzio beachhead, Rome is still too far away to be made the key to any impending event.

King Victor rarely has been more than a monarchial symbol in Italy. On the few occasions when he has made a decision in his own right, however, he has shown unquestioned devotion to the welfare of Italy; his decision now to ease political tension by stepping aside in favor of his heir, who is more likely to rally general support, is in character. While the King's decision to accept Benito Mussolini at another troubled hour in Italian history looked bad by hindsight, historians concede that it represented the only choice left open under the revolutionary conditions prevailing after the first World war.

King Victor hoped to help Italy. Since he came to the throne in 1900 his intentions have been unimpeachable. It was Italy's misfortune that the intentions of so many of the political figures who surrounded him were stronger, but not equally honorable; and that even their good intentions finally were distorted in an abortive scheme for the aggrandizement of Germany and Japan.

Housewife Power

THE drive to enlist women in the army of war production is aimed specifically at housewives, the remaining major source of womanpower in labor-critical areas. To the extent that the drive is successful, in other words, it will entail radical adjustments in living routines, ranging all the way from better facilities for taking care of children to the sacrifice of leisure by women who list it as their most important consideration. It cannot be successful, moreover, if it appeals only to women who need extra wages. It must enlist a large number of women willing to make a sacrifice of convenience for the sake of doing work that needs to be done. It is more than an appeal for workers; it is an appeal for an extra surge of patriotic endeavor to bring the national war effort to a climax.

There used to be a famous enlistment poster—Uncle Sam Wants You. That is the idea behind the drive to enlist womanpower. It is You, the woman who may be reading this, that is wanted. If the demand could be satisfied by women already at work, there would be no need for a special drive to put women at work who, up to this time, haven't been at work.

Names Make News

ADOPTION of National Geographic society's style for foreign place names by the three major United States news services will be an ultimate blessing to this news-hungry nation, but there will be some temporary inconvenience during the transition, not only to the news services and telegraph editors, but to news readers.

The society, itself, finds it necessary to indicate alternate names on its famed maps, for example. Thus, on the map of Europe, the capital of Romania, (approved style for Rumania) is identified as Bucuresti, with the better known spelling, Bucharest, in parentheses. Wien is identified also as Vienna. The island of Sardegna also appears under its better known name of Sardinia, Warszawa is bracketed with Warsaw and so on.

Standardization of place names by the news services on the society's usage is, of course, a tribute to the important role it plays in the dissemination of geographic knowledge. The transition will necessarily be slow and may even be awkward, but if pursued conscientiously over a period of several years it will give news followers a common ground of comprehension they never had before.

Congressional Reform

PLANS prepared by the Republican steering committee under the chairmanship of Sen. Taft for reforming the senate's committee system, if Republicans gain control of the upper house next November, are based on recommendations of many years' standing. It is a good sign that congressmen, themselves, now are showing interest in the possibilities of improving legislative efficiency.

Aside from changes proposed to make committee membership more effectual by reducing the number of standing committees and dividing responsibility more equitably, there might be one more important revision considered—a change in the seniority system which enables time servers to hold committee posts and chairmanships as a reward for nothing more meritorious than long service. This is particularly important whenever the Democrats organize congress, due to the prevailing seniority of the party's southern legislators, who enjoy the privilege of running for the senate without opposition.

News Behind the News

Jap Drive Into India Expected To Bog Down Because of Supply Problem.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 14 — The threatening Japanese drive into India has run into difficulties.

There are no roads in that area, all jungle. Their penetrations, therefore, were limited to a number of small units of troops. These can not long or easily be sustained with ammunition and food.

In such cases, we generally supply by air, but the Japs have not developed their air supplies system to any worthwhile extent, in fact, no other nation has.

The "advertised" invasion of India, in the end, therefore is likely to prove to have been no more than this series of infiltrations through the jungles into our lines, threatening our communications with China.

Defensive Strategy

We have perfected a new defensive strategy since similar Jap tactics led through Malaya to the fall of Singapore. In those days when the Japs infiltrated within our lines, the lines withdrew. Now we just hang on to our own strong points with the result that we are also in the rear of the enemy front positions.

The British have held on well to their two strongest positions and, with a good supplies system where the Japs have nothing comparable, they should win. At least, this explains the lack of Jap drive after the initial attacks.

Developments of the next two weeks may effectively refute any dire interpretations of the recent lack of important news from that front.

Wallace's Trip

Make your own choice of two opposite reasons for Vice President Wallace's announced trip to China. Some senators say he has proved such an ineffective domestic political campaigner, the Democratic high command thought he would accomplish more in China.

His latest effort was a definition of "an American Fascist" as some one whose lust for money or power was coupled with class, race, or religious intolerance. Even the New York newspaper publishing his article had to repudiate editorially such an erroneous purely political interpretation of Fascism, under which Communists and others qualify. He gave a better definition of a fool, than a Fascist.

Conversely, some of his senatorial friends insist the trip is a build-up for Wallace, that he will quiet the Chinese resentment because our lend-lease supplies have gone to Moscow (the Chinese have wanted more of a share), and that Mr. Wallace will himself go to Moscow, with the gain in prestige that seems attached somehow to that trip.

There may be a modicum of truth in both interpretations.

G. O. P. Delegates

The majority of delegates being chosen in these primaries for the Republican nominating convention are uninstructed. Also, popular votes are being registered for MacArthur and Stassen, and Bricker is campaigning so ardently that these three have come to some authorities to represent a new Dewey opposition.

It will not turn out that way. The MacArthur votes are really an effort to promote him as a vice presidential candidate with Dewey, whose nomination is practically assured. Furthermore, Stassen will not succeed to the position of his friend Willkie. Stassen is far different in his party loyalty.

Bricker is the only one who seems, in reason, to have any remote chance of getting a big bulk of the uninstructed delegates, but he is clearly campaigning for the party more than himself (he has not entered the primaries fully).

The situation, therefore, is this: While a ticket of Dewey and Warren still seems in topmost favor with the major Republicans, a ticket of Dewey and MacArthur is a rising probability and one of Dewey and Stassen not unlikely. I doubt if Bricker will seek a second place.

Correction

A reader in Boston has raised the point that in my article March 27 pointing out that Dewey was getting the delegates while Willkie was getting headlines, I erroneously said the former isolationist Senator George Moses was among six claimed for Willkie in New Hampshire.

Mr. Willkie himself called this error to my attention, and not only that, but pointed out the six had publicly announced for him, which meant a second error in that column which contained no other errors.

Mr. Willkie just wanted it known that he had no isolationists such as Moses among his delegates.

"T" TIME IN TOKYO

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, April 14, 1934.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McCormick of Chesterdfield, Ind., who had been spending the winter at Los Angeles, Calif., were visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Stauffer of Girard avenue before returning to their home.

John Frank Free, 42, died at his home on Congress street.

Mrs. Russell Dunlap and Miss Mae Dunlap were hostesses when the Quest club held its annual guest day party in the Dunlap home on Girard avenue.

Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority, held a dance at the Elks club. Miss Mary Guthrie, Miss Ruth Spicer, Miss Lavona Peacock, Miss Viola Peacock, Mrs. Roscoe Rank and Miss Louise Foreman were in charge of arrangements.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, April 14, 1924.

Preparations were under way for the annual Y.M.C.A. campaign for funds, to start the week of May 12. James E. Phillips was to be chairman.

Miss Helen Toucheff was hostess to the B. C. A club at her home on Holmes place.

City council adopted an ordinance providing for a return to the system of automobile parking which had been in use prior to adoption of the parallel system. Councilmen said the parallel plan had proved unsatisfactory because it wasted too much parking space and caused cars to jam frequently while getting in and out of the parking places.

A citizens' committee from Mansfield visited Marion to study the emergency occupational tax in force here. They held conferences with M. R. Smith, the occupational tax collector, Mayor M. L. Buckley and many other city officials.

D. R. Crissinger of Washington, former Marion man who was governor of the federal reserve board, gave a talk to members of the Current Topic club and guests at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Eugenia Dickson on East Church street. He said European gold which was flowing into the United States by the millions might seriously menace American commerce and industry by causing such inflation of prices that America would not be able to compete with European countries in world markets.

Hull's Speech Dramatic

Called One of Most Politically Significant Talks of Career.

By JACK STINNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14—Secretary of State Cordell Hull may have made greater speeches in his long political life than his recent one on U. S. foreign policy, but none more dramatic or more politically significant.

The aging white-haired secretary sat in the regular newscasting room in the Columbia broadcasting studios.

He was suffering from a cold and showed he didn't feel well. His only audience in the studio was a handful of state department assistants, including Michael J. McDermott, his director of information, and several radio technicians.

At his elbow sat alert Assistant Secretary Breckinridge Long, following line for line with his finger a copy of the speech. There was a microphone before him, too, dead for the time being but ready to be snapped on in a flash, should Mr. Hull's voice leave him or he become to ill to continue.

Heavy Strain

Few persons can realize teh strain of a 42-minute, unbroken radio speech. There aren't many young, experienced actors who could handle it without coming to the end exhausted.

Secretary Hull, at his best, is not a good radio speaker. He has trouble with his esses. He cannot convey over the air the fire and force he displays in talking to small groups. But if there is any one interested in our foreign policy or our politics who, through the absence of that force, failed to grasp the full significance of it, he better get a copy and start studying.

I'm going to discuss the political importance of it here on the homefront and on the coming elections.

Within 24 hours, many observers were saying that he had written the foreign policy plank for the Democratic convention in Chicago in July. In part they can't be wrong. Coming events may change some details, but if President Roosevelt is nominated for a fourth term, then it certainly is the Democratic foreign policy plank.

Issues Clarified

In view of that, the specific issues he clarified are vitally important. Some of them were:

His positive declaration that we could not recognize DeGaulle's Committee for National Liberation as the government of France, unless a freed French people by democratic process decreed it so.

That an essential understanding between Britain, Russia, China and the United States must be the basis for all organized international action.

That work already has been started on "the form and substance" of an international organization to maintain peace, and that we will be a party to it.

That congress should and is hereby invited to lend bi-partisan aid in working out the details of our foreign policy.

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO—The latchstring is out in Latin America for American business looking for a promising place to put its post-war dollars and industrial plants in a good neighborly manner.

But while Latin neighbors from Mexico to Argentina are eager for this invasion of investors, they have hung up "Keep out" signs for exploiters and the get-rich-quick, Associated Press correspondents in Latin America report.

Capital and technical help will be welcomed everywhere, but these countries want to learn how to make things for themselves—with their own labor.

Americans Can Get There First

The correspondents' consensus is that American business will get to these rich markets first while rivals in war-ravaged Europe are recuperating. Whether America can keep this commanding position depends upon how well her business men conduct themselves.

Big Brazil, with miles and mountains of untouched natural resources and a young and rapidly growing industry, is looking for a post-war influx of men, money and machines, says AP Correspondent Vaughn M. Bryant.

Brazil, Bryant says, has its sights trained toward the day when "it will figure as a world industrial power" and to reach that goal "Brazilians are counting heavily on North Americans."

But Brazil expects to keep fullest control. President Getulio Vargas, telling industrialists Brazil should receive foreign capital sympathetically, added: "But we must ever be on guard that foreign capitalists do not gain control of our national economy."

A case in point is the huge new iron and steel works going up at Volta Redonda (near Rio De Janeiro)—a Brazilian plant financed by a loan from the United States Export-Import bank.

Hundreds of American companies in Brazil are making everything from razor blades to truck tires. Others are in importing and exporting, mining, lumbering, rubber development and meat packing. The tendency, however, is for Brazilians to enter these fields.

Opportunity In Oil

Geologists have proved there is oil in Brazil, and investors and technicians in this field alone have almost unlimited opportunity.

Americans seeking new fields to conquer after the war probably will get a warm welcome in Argentina provided they have either capital or technical ability, writes Correspondent E. L. Almen from Buenos Aires.

"The growth of excessive nationalism would change the picture," Almen says, "frightening off foreign investors and threatening the security of existing foreign-owned industry."

Technicians are urgently wanted for Argentina's growing industrial plant, but there is little chance for those not technically trained. Few Americans are employed, even in American-owned firms.

Those who provide permanent capital for production of goods which Argentina now imports will find it easy to do business.

Americans seeking post-war opportunities in Mexico should make sure they have something to offer, says Correspondent L. F. Stuntz at Mexico City.

If the investor starts a business to supply a new service, or makes articles now imported, if he will employ Mexican labor and be content with modest profits, then the government will welcome him.

Technical experts, chemists, engineers, builders of small ships, metal production engineers and even aviation mechanics might find a welcome. But they must be willing to train Mexicans take over the job.

American companies are laying groundwork for what they hope will be a booming post-war commerce with Colombia, says Correspondent J. F. McEvoy, stationed at Bogota.

But in the minds of some American business men there lurks a fear that Mexico's expropriation of the American oil companies may have set a pattern for the rest of the Latin-American republics.

Colombia Needs U. S. Tools

Colombia, rich in coffee, oil, fruit, gold, silver, platinum, rubber and quinine, will welcome outside capital and will need United States machinery, drugs, liquor and other manufactures, McEvoy says.

Advance men of leading U. S. companies already on the ground think Colombia's potential buying power has never been tested.

If Cuban government plants develop, the post-war period will open huge new possibilities for investment in that island, writes Correspondent Fred L. Strozier from Havana.

Sugar mills, Cuba's main industry, fire their boilers with the squeezed residue of the cane. Experts believe all kinds of industry can be centered around the mill to take advantageof this inexpensive fuel. They hope to see sugar used widely in making industrial alcohol for dyes, soaps, lacquers, paints, synthetic fabrics, antiseptics—even plastics.

President Juan Antonio Rios of Chile told The Associated Press he hoped to see U. S. capital coming into the country to invest in large and small industries and self-liquidating public works.

The Once Over

Service Star

It's a star in a window now....

Just a cloth star against a cloth field in the front window of a small, white house on a village street....

Passers-by hardly notice it. There are hundreds in this little town's windows. "Another boy in the service ...Well, there's plenty others. What's new with you?"

• • •

But there was another star....

The star the night he was born...

A mother say it twinkling in her travail she remembers now how bright it was... seemed so low that she could almost reach out of the bedroom window and touch it. It was the last thing she saw when the doctor came and the first thing she saw when her eyes opened again, and she heard her son crying.

• • •

Then there was the star on his first Christmas....

She had hung it on top of the tree, and remembered how, when a babe in arms, his eyes opened wide at the first sight of it, and how he clapped his tiny hands....

Then there was the first Christmas that seemed to comprehend....

The star still topped the tree, with the candles glowing about it.... And she told him the story of the Star of Bethlehem....

How he could hark to the tale of the Wise Men of the East... and the Babe in the Manger... and Mary, the mother of Jesus...

She could remember all through the years how in his thin voice he had sung the words of "Holy Night."...

And repeated the words "Peace on earth."

• • •

Then there had been other stars....

The stars of kindergarten days....

She remembered his first childish drawings—always stars in red and gold and blue on yellow school paper....

• • •

And now, after what seemed only the passing of a night, there was this star on a flag in the window...

A star engraved on her heart....

A star into which were fused all the stars of heaven and of earth, all the stars of a mother's tender memories....

This was the star of faith and hope and devotion....

This was the star of infinite love and understanding....

• • •

This was a star illuminating deathless recollections....

The star flashing a golden light on the memory of a child first creeping across the bedroom floor... his startled cries as he stumbled....

Brightening the memory of his first faltering steps...the first day he walked!....

His first long pants!....

• • •

The memories of him playing with the other kids...and how funny it seemed that children must always play at war!...

• • •

Now she was hoping and praying he was succeeding out there on a beachhead or in a jungle.

Service star!

Not a cloth star on a cloth field...but again a burning, golden heavenly body...low in the heavens and seemingly close again to a bedroom window on a night of pain...a star of Divine Providence and a symbol of hope...

One of the young men who won $1,000 and a Metropolitan Opera contract the other day in a singing contest is Morton Bowe, linotyper by trade. Well we think being a linotyper is pretty swell training. Most of the ones we have known have been better than fair singers, excellent quartet work. They have a regard for the work which is the mark of the true artist in any profession. They produce, in the whir of the linotype machines, something that is grand music. Every day of their working lives they race through scripts of high excitement and color, embracing all the drama of grand opera.

• • •

William Hargrave, Regina Resnik and Hugh Thompson were the three others winning Metropolitan contracts. It must be a tremendous kick to wake up on a spring morning and get news like that.

One of Hitler's new weapons is a midget tank. He is getting closer and closer to where he belongs....among the cooties.

Browsing

By Truman Twill

Our outdoors man, McFadden, who keeps track of nature details, came in today, slipped off his shoes, wriggled his toes and allowed that how it soon would be time for pokeberry shoots.

At first, the announcement didn't register. We just wondered when McFadden had started showing interest in organized recreation, he being the type that rolls his own. Then the meaning of the remark clicked.

McFadden is about to begin browsing on the landscape again. Something inside him says this time of year and he yields to a gnawing inner appetite for wild greenery.

"Yup," he announced. "Pokeberry shoots will be prime any day now. My missus will fix them up so pretty that if you didn't know what they were you'd think they were something else. They got vitamins, too. Give me a good mess of pokeberry shoots for what ails you in the spring, I always say."

And how were the McFaddens doing this year with that old standby, the elixir of them all, the dandelion green?

"Oh them," said our outdoors correspondent. "I had a hankering for a mess the other day and I thinks me of a hill—don't ask me where—that the sun hits on the south side and I runs my shoes over there and there they were, the tenderest, sweetest little dandelions you'd find in a month of Sundays. I picked a bushel and we ate 'em all. Yessir, every last smidgin. My missus makes a salad out of them. If you didn't know, you'd think they were something else. No sir, there's nothing like a good mess of dandelion greens for what ails you in the spring, I always say."

And, remembering previous years, what about the upland cress?

"It's a mite soon for the cress," explained McFadden, "but it will be coming along soon now. I always say there's nothing . . ."

Yes, yes, McFadden, but what about the milkweed sprouts and sassafras tea?

"They're on the schedule," was the reply. "All in good time. And the slippery elm bark too. And don't be forgetting the grass. Put in the paper that I always eat me a handful of new grass for what ails me in the spring. I was doing it a generation before scientists finally wised up to the good stuff in grass.

At this point, we had to leave McFadden with his toe-wriggling and get home for the evening meal. McFadden was in no hurry, he says. His missus was having store-bought stuff and he guessed he'd skip it and make it up tomorrow when he could have milkweed sprouts. In some ways, McFadden is quite a character.

Schools To Conduct Bond Drive Before Vacation Begins

CLEVELAND, April 14—Ohio schools will close the current term with a War Stamp and Bond drive paying special tribute to members if the nation's armed forces.

In a statewide "Back Your Own Hero" campaign, 1,500,000 students in Ohio's 6,844 public, private and parochial schools are asked to top 1943-44 school war efforts by completing War Stamp Books and exchanging them for Bonds before summer vacation starts.

Each student buyer is to honor his favorite serviceman or servicewoman by purchasing extra War Stamps, preferably with self-earned money, according to plans outlined by the schools division of the Ohio War Finance Committee.

"Back Your Own Hero" goal is $18,000,000, which can be raised if two out of every three Ohio school students fill $18.75 War Stamp books.

"This effort must represent Ohio schools' contribution to the Fifth War Loan Drive," said Harold H. Bredlow, Ohio War Finance director. "In previous War Loans, schools were in session to give direct help. But in the new drive, which starts June 12, students will be on vacation."

"But the $18,000,000 would give the drive a splendid start," Mr. Bredlow said.

Kenneth C. Ray, of Columbus, state director of education, has praised the "Back Your Own Hero" aim and urged superintendents, principals and teachers to help launch the effort.

"It is quite fitting that the students of this state be mobilized for this dual purpose," Mr. Ray said. "They will be participating in an important phase of our war effort, and also they will be learning, first hand, the lessons of initiative, sacrifice and thrift."

Campaign details call for students using money from part-time work to buy War Stamps for Bonds to honor the soldier, sailor, marine, WAC, WAVE, nurse, or other serviceman or woman, whose name they list on classroom "hero roll."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS . . .

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't goin' in the newspaper business, are you?"

"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise', 'Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices', 'Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck'. Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?

"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor . . . plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

The Diamond

APRIL BIRTHSTONE

Ever since the form of cutting known as the "brilliant," the diamond has held first place among precious stones. The history of the diamond is full of romantic interest. In an engagement ring it is thought to soften anger, strengthen love and maintain harmony.

The diamond is the hardest known substance on earth. When devoid of any tinge of color it is considered most valuable. Those with a slight tinge of yellow are "off colored" and have much less value. Cutting is important, too. Improper cutting robs the diamond of much brilliance and beauty.

It Takes Fishing To Get Rise from 37th's Lt. Col. Hays

* * *

THE 37TH DIVISION CAMP CLAIBORNE, La. — Lt. Col. ... Hays, personnel officer ... general staff of the 37th ...eran of the bitter ...s campaign, sat in his ... and dutifully answered ... for this story without ...usiasm. But when the ...f shing somehow en... ...he conversation he ...brightened and said "I've done some deep sea fishing since I've been out here in the south Pacific. Just after we captured the Munda airfield I caught a 50-pounda sanka off the southwestern coast of New Georgia."

"And," chuckled the 46-year-old colonel who was born in Washington C. H., O., "I caught him with feather bait made in Japan."

Colonel Hays is on leave of absence from his post as superintendent of the boys' industrial school at Lancaster, O.

Like every other member of the general staff except Lt. Col. Loren G. Winslow of Columbus, operations officer, Colonel Hays is a veteran of World War I.

The end of the war found him in an officers' training camp in Camp MacArthur, Tex. He continued his education after the armistice and in 1922 was graduated by Ohio State university in the school of business administration. He resumed his military career as an officer of the 74th infantry brigade staff of the 37th division and a year later was successively a first lieutenant in company I of the 166th infantry regiment, assistant plans and training officer of the regiment and commander of company L of the 147th infantry regiment of Xenia, O. In 1940 he was assigned to the staff of the adjutant general's department of Ohio and promoted to major. Before being reassigned to the 37th division Dec. 26, 1941, he served as chief inspector and executive officer of the Ohio selective service system in Columbus, O.

After graduation by the battalion and regimental staff officers' course at the infantry school, Ft. Benning, Ga., he was assigned as executive officer and then commander of a battalion of the 37th division. In Fiji he was named adjutant general of the division and October, 1943, became assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel.

His business career carried right along side his military activities. After he left Ohio State he became an examiner of the Ohio State civil service commission and then from 1930 to 1940 was superintendent of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia. Then he was transferred to the boys' reformatory.

Mrs. Hays is the former Susan Mertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mertz of St. Johns, O. They have two children, Harold Jr., 16, is a student in the Kentucky Military Institute and Patricia Sue, 13, is a pupil in Upper Arlington school, Columbus.

Colonel Hays is a past commander of Xenia American Legion post and a member of the Lancaster post.

V-MAIL HEAVY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—The War department yesterday said V-mail broke all previous records during March when the Army postal service handled 61,253,856 letters. Of the total, 30,991,269 were sent from the United States and 30,261,587 sent to this country from overseas.

The goal of the 1944 waste paper salvage campaign is 8,000,000 tons—an average of about 667,000 tons a month.

North Dakotans In the Dithers Over "Jitterbug Coal"

By The Associated Press

BISMARCK, N. D., April 14—State Fire Marshal Charles Schwartz is puzzling over what he says is one of the most mysterious cases ever called to the attention of his department—"the case of the jitterbug coal."

He has been puzzling over it since March 28 when Stark county Superintendent of Schools R. L. Swenson called the marshal's office to report a series of "strange happenings" at the Wild Plum school house, 20 miles south of Richardton, which led people in the community to believe the schoolhouse is "bewitched."

Schwartz said his investigation disclosed a "remarkable story almost beyond belief."

The story, as pieced together by Schwartz from the sworn testimony of school patrons, pupils and the teacher, was:

On March 28, Mrs. Pauline Rebel, Wild Plum teacher, and her eight pupils were amazed when a pail of lignite coal near the stove began to stir restlessly without any apparent cause.

Then things began to happen. Lumps of coal started popping out of the pail like Mexican jumping beans, at times hitting the walls and bounding back into the room.

Jack Stone, a pupil, was hit on the head and slightly injured.

Violent action (but noiseless) upset the coal pail over the the lumps of fuel scattered.

Window blinds on each of the nine windows started smashing and a dresser began to move.

A bookcase caught fire.

Schwartz said Wild Plum school officials called to the scene, testified that when they arrived the coal still was reacting to the mysterious fever. Pieces they picked up trembled in their hands.

An analysis of the coal by the state chemists at Dickinson State Teachers college and the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks failed to reveal any chemical which might have caused such action.

The amount of penicillin produced in 1943 was sufficient only to treat about 21,000 patients.

The first automobile trip across the United States, in 1901, took 61 days.

Dodgers Show Fans Why They Are "Dem Bums;" Beat Phillies

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 14—Among all the uncertainties surrounding wartime baseball, the fans can cling to the one tried-and-true formula—the Dodgers always are the Dodgers.

Take for example the typical Dodgers doings of yesterday's Red Cross benefit at Ebbetz Field, in which Brooklyn triumphed over the Phillies, 13 to 11.

To start, ex-Dodger Fred Fitzsimmons held his old team hitless for the first two innings in his first mound task since he became manager of the Phillies. That feat must have eased the divided loyalties of Hilda (the bellringer) Chester, No. 1 Dodger fan and employe at Fitz's bowling alleys.

In the fifth Bill Hart and Stretch Schultz tried to occupy third base at the same time, with the result that they both were run down for a double play. Dixie Walker, an uncomfortable third baseman, rushed in for a pop fly in the sixth then pulled up and let it fall for a hit. And in the same inning, with two on base, Louis Olmo made a brilliant catch of a fly and then stood holding the ball, evidently thinking it was the third out, while two Phillies scampered home.

Olmo redeemed himself in the eighth when he belted a triple with two on base to tie the score and then stole home with the deciding run. And, as an extra feature, Augie Galan, a switch hitter, for more than 10 years, batted left handed against southpaw Wilbur Reeser in the fourth and clouted a home run.

Other developments yesterday:

St. Louis: Cards and Browns resume city series with Max Lanier and Bud Byerly pitching for Red Birds and Jack Kramer starting for Browns.

Chicago: Orval Grove and Hank Wyse opposing pitchers today as city series moves to Comiskey park for fourth game. Thornton Lee yielded only three hits in five innings for Sox yesterday as American leaguers won 2-0 in 10 innings.

New York Yankees: Spud Chandler, joining team until called for military service, tuned up his arm in batting practice and soon will be ready to take regular turn.

Pittsburgh Pirates: Virgil (Spud) Davis, veteran coach, given new contract restoring him to active catching duty.

New York Giants: Hard hitting, including homer by Hugh Luby, made them look better in first game at Polo Grounds than they did a year ago, despite licking by Yanks, 11-4.

Boston: Braves and Red Sox play first of three-game series at Braves' field with Al Javery opposing Emmet O'Neill on the mound. Bob Coleman makes his home debut as manager of Braves.

TRIBE AND REDS IN DAYTON TODAY

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., April 14—The The Cleveland Indians and the Cincinnati Reds move in here today for the third installment of a five-game exhibition series.

Up to now, the Reds have yet to taste defeat in the Ersatz grapefruit league, winning all four of their pre-season contests. The Indians, on the other hand, have won but one contest in six.

Yesterday the two teams went at each other in Richmond, Ind., with the Cincinnati boys exploding in the seventh and eighth innings to win 8 to 4.

Bucky Walters, whose advance notices this year all have been in the "rave" category, started for the winners and was touched for 10 hits and all the Cleveland runs in six innings of work. Joe Beggs succeeded him and allowed but one hit.

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati manager, gave indication last night he was taking the exhibition games as seriously as regulation league affairs when he nominated Elmer Riddle as his choice to go the entire distance today.

All players yesterday revealed they thought the 1944 ball was much livelier than the "balata ball" which was used last summer. This year's version has a rubber center.

FOR the first four days of the baseball season, the only team Marion's entry in the revitalized Ohio State league will have to worry about will be Lima, president of which is Joe Donnelly, also head of the league.

The Lima club comes to Marion for the season inaugural Tuesday, May 2, and stays over for a contest May 3. Both games will be played at Lincoln park. Marion will promptly pay a return visit, games between the two nines having been scheduled for May 4 and 5 on the Lima diamond.

The league schedule announced recently reveals that the Marion team, managed by Grover Hartley, will travel to Zanesville for a three-game series, May 6, 7 and 8. The locals return to the local diamond May 9 for three contests with Middletown.

Each of the six Ohio State teams — Marion, Middletown, Lima, Zanesville, Springfield and Newark — have tentative regular season schedules of 130 games. Each club will make four tours of the circuit during the season and will face each of the other five nines 26 times —13 on its home field and 13 away. It is expected that most games will be played at night.

Arrangements are under way for acquisition of a lighting plant for Lincoln park, which has been without lights for several seasons. Doubleheaders have been confined to Sundays and holidays on the regular schedule but it may be necessary to stage twin bills during the week, in the event of postponed games. July 12 and 13 have been left open for the proposed league all-Star game.

BOWLING RESULTS

Pearl Snyder of Ladies All-Star League, Tops Single Records in Wednesday Night Bowling with a 234.

Pearl Snyder, who can always be found at or near the top when the weekly individual results in the city's feminine leagues are tabulated, was especially on the kegling beam at the Marion Recreation Center Wednesday night when she cracked out a 231 to lead the Ladies All-Star loop Series glory, however, went to Lillie Dalton, who had a 516 count, featured by a 196 single game. In the Osgood league at the Palace Recreation, L. Myers had best series, 585, and the 209 of Miller copped top honors in the single game department. Jean Cox had a 195 game and 427 three-game total to top the six-team Universal Cooler Ladies circuit at the Palace.

Dalton's 174, B. Klotz's 179 and M. Peacock's 171 were other high games in the Ladies All-Star league. Other Osgood bowlers to blast 200 or above were Augenstein 201, Roush two 201's, Claypool 203, McGurie 202, and L. Myers 200 and 201.

Standings in the Ladies All-Star, and Osgood leagues along with individual three-game-series totals in all three Wednesday night loops follow:

Panther Turns in Mat Victory Over LaCrosse

The Black Panther was victorious over Gil LaCrosse in a wrestling match last night at the Armory. LaCrosse took the first fall in 15 minutes with an arm lock, but the Panther took the next two falls to win. He first brought LaCrosse down with a head lock, applied in eight minutes, and pinned LaCrosse again in three minutes by reversing an arm lock and shoulder pin applied by his adversary.

The first of two 45-minute semi-finals ended in a draw between Earl Malone and Joe Maiche. Malone won the first fall in 20 minutes with a toe hold and ankle twist. Maiche took a fall in eight minutes with a drop kick and body press.

Dutch Schultz was the victor in the second semi-final by virtue of one fall. After 22 minutes, he brought his opponent, Franklin Hart, down with a knee chin buster and body press.

Widdoes To Fill Paul Brown's Coaching Job at Ohio State

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 14—Carroll Widdoes, last of the "Massillon greats" on Ohio State university's football staff, today was named to serve as head coach in the absence of Paul Brown in the military service.

The announcement was made by Athletic Director L. W. St. John one day after Brown, who brought Widdoes here with him from Massillon high school three years ago, reported he would leave Sunday to join the Navy as a lieutenant (jg) at Great Lakes.

Widdoes is 41 years old and perfected the fleet backfields that featured Brown's teams, one of which won the Big Ten championship in 1942 and was adjudged the most powerful outfit that year in the Associated Press poll.

Brown, who by will of the athletic board will serve as "coach in absentia," was given the right to pick the man to head the staff while away.

Widdoes was born in Manila, Philippine Islands, the son of missionary parents, and was graduated from Otterbein college at Westerville, O. He is married and has three children.

Lieutenant Brown, Ohio State university's 35-year-old head football coach, is only 48 hours away from a trip to Chicago and duty at Great Lakes Naval Training Station—a job which might even turn out to be head coach of Great Lakes' always powerful grid team.

Brown's naval commission came through Wednesday night and he is to leave here Sunday. He immediately was linked with the Great Lakes coaching job because Lt. Paul D. (Tony) Hinkle, who handled that task the last two seasons, has been named athletic officer at the station.

Looks Over 1944 Picture

Brown found time today, however, to offer the prediction that college football in 1944 would be much more evenly balanced than last year.

"If they make the 4-Fs withdraw from school, football will be in a very precarious position," said Brown who came to Ohio State from Massillon High school in 1941 and produced a national champion in his second year of college football. "If they don't take the 4-Fs competition ought to be much more even.

"Schools with Naval trainees still will have whatever advantage there is but it won't be nearly as great as last year."

Brown was one of those college coaches who had to build a team last year from 17-year-olds and 4-Fs and then sit and suffer as they tried to keep even with such power-laden outfits as Great Lakes, Purdue and Michigan.

The Buck mentor also predicted a great boom period for athletics after the war.

"I don't remember much about the so-called 'roaring twenties,'" he said, "but I believe that after this war we'll see a great resurging of competitive sports. The boys overseas are starved for sports."

O. S. U. Coach in Absentia

Brown will remain as Ohio State's head coach "in absentia."

Brown made it plain that Ohio State plans no additions to the coaching staff for the duration of the war. He also had little to say about the possibility that he eventually might wind up as Great Lakes coach.

"I'm just going up there to do what they tell me," he said. He has a worry on that score, however—Great Lakes is scheduled to play Ohio State here next Oct. 25.

Yale's Alan Ford Wins New Swimming Laurel

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 14—Yale's Alan Ford had a new gem today in the crown he holds as king of the sprint swimmers—the world's 100-meter freestyle record.

The "Balboa Bullet," who began swimming at his home in the Panama Canal zone almost as soon as he could walk, was clocked at 55.9 seconds for the distance in a test against time yesterday at the Yale pool. The old record of 56.4 seconds was set here in February, 1936, by Peter Fick of New York.

Row Boat Used To Get Green Camp Boy To School

Going to school Thursday was more than an ordinary event for Richard Porter, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Porter of the River road west of Green Camp.

The farm faces the river and Thursday the water covered the road making it impassable with a car. The parents used a row boat, and rowed the boy approximately a half mile to the opposite side where he was able to continue in the normal manner.

The boat has been used a number of times before, Mrs. Porter said, but this is the first time it was ever used to take their son to school.

3 POWERS TO RULE GERMANY

Great Authority To Be Placed in Eisenhower's Hands as Axis Falls.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 14—Defeated Germany will be governed by a joint American-British-Russian "allied military government with teeth in it," a reliable source in close touch with allied armistice proposals declared today.

And, he added, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of the allied western front forces will be given the greatest authority in history, even greater than that exercised by old Roman generals. Besides commanding all allied land, sea and air forces, he will exercise direct and indirect control over the civilian life of most of liberated Europe.

French Plan Differs

The plan for Germany was disclosed in broad outline after it was learned last night that no allied military government was intended for France. Instead, Gen. Charles De Gaulle's committee of National Liberation is to be given control of the civil administration of liberated France, receiving "military recognition" as the official authority but not being granted diplomatic recognition as the French "government."

Details of the tri-power administration of Germany are being worked out by the European advisory commission in conjunction with military chiefs, an informant said, giving this picture of allied plans:

"For some time after the armistice, as well as before, Eisenhower as chief of the military government forces will have direct control over all parts of Germany occupied by the Americans and British, or other allied troops except the Russians. A soviet military government will control German territory occupied by the Red army.

To Head All Groups

He will be the man through whom the French, Dutch, Norwegians, Belgians and other allied governments must deal until normal peacetime diplomatic and trade channels can be resumed.

The entire economic life of Europe will be under his control, since shipping and transport will be supervised by the military for a considerable period after the war ends.

There is no question of self-government for Germany immediately after the war, it was stressed.

"There has been no indication that any counter-Nazi movement is growing in Germany which might seize power, such as displaced the kaiser in the last war," one high officer explained.

HERE, HERE! NONE OF THAT! An alert cameraman caught this scene outside the Montgomery Ward and Company mail order house and retail store in Chicago as one of the company's employes who refused to join the strike broke through the unionists' line. Henry R. Anderson, union president, claimed 90 per cent of the 5,500 employes remained away from their posts. Anderson said the stop work order was issued because "Montgomery Ward has defied two War Labor Board orders extending our union contract."

7 BIG DAYS STARTING TODAY OHIO THEATRE

40 et 8 Holds Annual Banquet

State Civilian Defense Head Speaks at Dinner Program; Group Honors E. C. Watters.

Ralph Stone of Cincinnati, head of the Civilian Defense of Ohio, and a past department commander of the Ohio American Legion, called on everyone on the home front to "do our job so that we will not be ashamed when the boys come marching home after doing a good job over there," when he addressed members of Marion Voiture No. 40 40 et 8 Thursday night at Hotel Harding. The occasion was the voiture's annual dinner and social meeting for their wives and friends. Covers were placed for 75 members and guests in the ballroom.

John V. Ruth, past chef de gare, presided as toastmaster and the guests were welcomed by Fred P. Haas, chef de gare.

Rehabilitation Plans

The speaker cited the work and planning now in progress by civilian and veterans organization for the rehabilitation of men now returning and who will return from the battle front and declared that the mistake that followed the last war "must not happen again." We must have a country of free enterprise, he stated, and in referring to the disabled men of the present war, "to whom the nation owes an everlasting debt," he emphasized the importance of a comprehensive hospital program, vocational training which will make them self-supporting and self-confident, and above all an understanding that will restore them to a normal, successful life. Mr. Stone expressed the belief that such a program is being provided.

Describing World War II as "the most terrible thing any one of the 'retreads' have experienced," he paid tribute to the men of World War I now in service. He cautioned against the feeling of optimism resulting from a relaxation of civilian war alertness and stated that "we have only started on World War II." He expressed the belief that the war is going to be won on foot and called upon the citizenry to back the armed forces with the same 100 per cent loyalty and support the fighting forces are giving.

Honor Members In Service

Tribute was paid to members of the voiture now serving with the armed forces by Charles Howard Lt.-Col. E. H. Shade of Fort Hayes, a member, was present, and programs signed by the members and guests will be sent to the following members: Capt. James J. Divney of Little Rock, Ark., Lt.-Col. R. E. Copeland of Camp Atterbury, Ind., Lt.-Col. Hubert L. Taylor of Camp Shelby, Miss., Major Lawrence Lairen of Camp Knox, Ky., and Major E. L. Hill of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Music during the dinner hour was furnished by Miss Virginia Grover, and entertainment included sleight of hand tricks of Dr. Carroll Ritchey. E. C. Watters, an honorary member of the voiture, sang a solo, "Mother Machree," and also led in group singing.

Informal talks were given by Will J. Irwin of Cleveland, grand chef de gare of Ohio, O. R. Shryock of Akron, chemhot nationale and a past grand chef de gare of Ohio, Clyde Irwin of Warren, grand chef de train north, Mrs. Margaret Bradbury, superintendent of the City hospital and a past president of District No. 8, American Legion auxiliary and chairman of the district rehabilitation committee, who with Mrs. Shryock of Akron were among the guests of the voiture.

Dedicated to E. C. Watters

The banquet was dedicated to Mr. Watters, who aided the voiture in the building of their engine and box car which has won many awards in state and national conventions. Decorations on the speaker's table were the cups won by the voiture to which one presented by Mr. Watters last night was added.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America" and the salute to the Flag by the audience. The invocation was spoken by Charles Howard.

Mr. Ruth was general chairman in charge of plans for the banquet and he was assisted by a committee composed of Chief, William E. Marks, Norval V. Fourman R. A. Todd, D. J. MacDonald, Lewis Sherman and Mr. Watters.

MORRAL—Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Stone, daughters Polly and Louise, and niece, Lena Bloomfield of Morral and Elwood Bloomfield of Bucyrus were week-end visitors with relatives and friends at South Portsmouth and Camp Dix, Ky.

RYE AND BARLEY STRENGTHEN PRICES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 14—Strength developed in rye and barley toward the close of trading on the grain market today, supported by unconfirmed rumors that Canada may halt exports of barley, but wheat and oats were not able to share in the upturn to any appreciable extent. Gains in rye and barley were fractional.

Trading in all pits was on a reduced scale as compared with yesterday and for most of the session the market lacked a definite trend. Offerings of May wheat and oats expanded at one time, but sales were absorbed without difficulty at ceiling prices

KIWANIS TOLD OF POST-WAR PLANS

Changes in Stores and Sales Policy Forecast.

George Hammond of the Ohio Council of Retail merchants spoke to members of Kiwanis club when they met yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. Mr. Hammond outlined trends in post-war retailing as he sees them shaping today.

Among points which Mr. Hammond indicated as coming to the fore were the entrance of more manufacturers into the retail field and entrance of manufacturers now producing for war alone into places in peace time industry and retailing Mr. Hammond predicted the decentralization of shopping centers as the auto parking problem grows increasingly knottier. He also sees the growth of stores into larger units and a decided upturn in the number of self-service stores.

Prime economic problem to be tackled by merchants after the war will be an attempt to cut costs of retail merchandise, Mr. Hammond said. With the end of the war, he predicted will come a vastly different policy in merchandising as well as with the physical construction of store buildings.

Turning to problems facing retailers today, he reviewed the problem of supply in which material on hand falls far short of the present demand. He also noted the problems which merchants meet when they attempt to keep adequate help, both men and women in their stores. Mr. Hammond expressed the hope that there would be no army and navy stores organized after the war through which surplus goods would flow, but that the merchandise would reach the public through normal channels already in operation.

Guests at the meeting were Ed Still and Stuart Mills of Cleveland, Gale Westbrook of Columbus and Al Park of Dayton.

MARION-MADE EQUIPMENT USED IN SALERNO WORK

Marion Metal Products Co. Gets Letter of Recognition.

The Marion Metal Products Co. has received a letter from the industrial news section of the war department, accompanied by a story about the use of equipment in constructing airfields at Salerno, in which it praises the company employes by saying "Every man and woman who helped make this equipment can feel that they have had an active part in carrying the war to the axis."

The letter, sent to Gilbert E. Hiltz, vice president and general manager of the company, explains that rollers used in the construction of airfields included equipment made by the Marion Metal Products Co.

The story about the construction of the fields at Salerno tells how one brand new airfield was built within 12 hours after landing and two others within seven days, these operations being carried on along an enemy-held beachhead. Four rollers were among the various pieces of equipment used by the engineers on the three fields.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

MY MOTHER-IN-LAW drew herself to her full, and still imposing, height.

"Don't you worry about me," she said. "I am still in possession of all my faculties, and nobody will get past that door, or me, unless I decide to let them in."

She drew a long deep breath, and her face was suddenly illumined.

"I feel like Molly Pitcher, or somebody," she said, "and am I ever thankful for this chance to do something!"

My throat constricted as I stooped and kissed her.

"I leave everything in your charge, Mother," I said. "I'll tell Katie to watch out for any car coming up, and if it isn't somebody we know, she isn't to answer the door, or to let anybody see her. She is to come straight to you and ask you what to do."

"I'll have her instructions all ready for her," she said.

There was a grimness in her smile, which boded ill for anybody trying to cross her.

"I hope you won't have to give any," I told her.

"I don't," she said, and my lips twitched at her truculence.

I hurried into the kitchen, and gave brief instructions to Katie.

Instructions.

"Major Grantland and Lee Chow are in the secret chamber," I said. "My father's suite is just as it always has been. I have to go over to the Ticers' after the boys. I shall drive the truck myself, one of the boys can drive back, so that Jim will be here. Call him indoors and keep him here. If anybody comes to the house do not let him see you or Jim, but go straight up to Madam Graham's room. She will tell you what to do."

I turned at the door for a parting admonition.

"Remember, Katie," I said, "that if you are asked any questions, all you know is that two men came to the house this morning, that I told you they were friends of Mrs. Graham's, that you served them breakfast down here in my studio, and luncheon upstairs in my father's suite, and that they went away in a taxi at three-thirty. If they ask you anything else, say you don't know. Especially you don't know anything about their wet clothing."

"Sure ting," Katie responded. "Me, I don't know nutting in seventeen langwidges. But I know my dinner spoil eef I don't get me qvick into keetchen."

"All right, Katie," I said. Then I went back into the kitchen and caught Faith by the hand.

Surprise.

"Here's your surprise, darling," I told her. "I'm going to take you with me to Mrs. Ticer's to get Junior and Roderick."

"Oh! Goody goody!" she squealed, jumping up and down. "Where's all my sings?"

"Right here," I told her. "Let's hurry into them."

So quick was her cooperation that it was but a minute or two before we were in the truck, Jim went into the kitchen after a worried look at me in the driver's seat. With Faith huddled close to my side I drove across the fields to the Ticers.

Boys Rushed Out.

The boys came whooping out to meet me, but I gave them a little private signal which they understood, and I spoke quickly.

"Toss up as to which one will drive home," I said. "The other will have to stand on behind. And get into the truck now... I want to see Mrs. Ticer."

"I want to see Mrs. Ticer, too," Faith piped up.

Her claim had justice. Besides I knew the quickest way to solve the problem was to acquiesce.

"You may go in for one minute and say 'how do you do' nicely," I said. "Then you must come directly out again. Boys, whichever one of you loses out on the toss, join Faith in one minute."

I lifted my small daughter down and went into Mrs. Ticer's kitchen. When Faith had done her "parlor tricks" and been solaced with a cookie, Roderick entered rather glumly, and Faith went obediently out with him. Then I put my query to the Ticer men, both of whom were sitting by the stove.

"How did it go?" I asked.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Meat Inspection

The United States government has the most exacting system of meat inspection of any country in the world, primarily as a safeguard to public health.

The most conspicuous example of improvement in public health due to meat and live stock inspection is in tuberculosis.

As everyone knows the rate of incidence of tuberculosis in this country has been steadily declining. This coincides in general with a world wide decline, and that world wide decline has probably been due to more stable living conditions, especially a more regular and adequate food supply. When one thinks of the famines that prevailed all over the world at regular intervals in civilized countries down to 1850 the contrast between those and the conditions prevailing in the United States in our time should make us grateful.

The last wide-spread great famine in the western world was the Irish Potato Famine of the eighteen-forties. Famines of India and China have kept the tuberculosis death rate in those countries high. We may expect on the basis of past experience, an increase in tuberculosis in all European countries following the famine conditions of this war.

While general food supply parallels the incidence of tuberculosis the incidence of tuberculosis in live stock is a special condition which keeps up the incidence in humans. And here the United States experience has shown a great improvement over the European. Here the vigilance of United States inspection has played the major role. It was definitely established that bovine and swine tuberculosis could be transmitted to humans in approximately the early years of the present century. The Agricultural Department of the United States and Great Britain (to make a control based on known figures) started to eliminate infected live stock.

But whereas the United States officials were ruthless in slaughtering and removing from market all infected animals all in which the diagnosis could be made, the British authorities adopted a half-hearted procedure depending on whether the animal showed clinical symptoms of being sick or not. The results were evident to the British authorities who found themselves with still infected herds about 1925, and they adopted more vigorous procedures.

The United States action was not accomplished without opposition. Members of a Congressional committee in 1918 when told that progress could not be made without reimbursing farmers for their slaughtered cattle asked—"Why should the Federal Government pay farmers for their sick cows?"

The answer to that question is evident in the statistics.

I said that the decline in tuberculosis has been gradual all over the world. But note the sharp decline in the United States incidence parallel with the testing and slaughter of infected cattle.

In 1900 the death rate of human lung tuberculosis in the United States was 180.5. In 1941 it was 40.8.

In 1917 when cattle testing began there were 20,000 cattle tested and 645 slaughtered in the United States and the tuberculosis death rate was 124. In 1927 there were nine million cattle tested, 285,000 slaughtered and tuberculosis death rate was 71. In 1937 there were 13 million cattle tested and 94,000 slaughtered and the tuberculosis death rate was 49. In the twenty years of cattle testing the human tuberculosis rate improved nearly half again as rapidly as before tuberculosis in live stock was investigated. This certainly can not be accounted for by improved living conditions alone. The campaign against tuberculosis in live stock has justified itself and will go on.

Questions and Answers.

A. L. B.—What are the symptoms and cure of scabies?

Answer: Itching, scabby spots mostly on the fingers. Cure by sulphur ointment.

I. L.—I am 18 years old and would like to know some exercises to make me grow taller and appear taller.

Answer: You are hugging an age old delusion. There are no exercises or anything else which will make you grow taller. Change your psychology. Think how important some short people were. Napoleon, Stalin, LaGuardia, Charles Lamb and Caruso are your models. Do such things as they did and nobody will notice your height.
